FOREWORD

LOOKING back on three years of high school life, you begin to realize how much you have changed. Your ideas are bigger, broader, and more stable. In other words, you have been growing up. The effects of this war will make your position in the world far from easy, but the advantage of growing up in a school like Salem High will add no little bit to your chance of bettering the post-war world. For this reason we have made the theme of the 1942 Clarion Annual GROWING UP.

FRANK E. NEER

DEDICATION

*A*FTER serving two years as Salem High's first Dean of Boys, Frank E. Neer has won the admiration and respect of the whole school, let alone the boys. Through his understanding and interest in young people, he has given immeasurable benefit to both students and school.

GUIDING HANDS

SOMEONE once said that formal schooling is merely a matter of a few teachers. The more you think about that the more you realize how true it is. Of course, we sometimes disagree with an assignment or two, but we soon discover that teachers are human, even nice, at times; and we may later see that the guiding hands of one or two teachers directed the

ADMINISTRATION

FRANK B. BENNETT

School Board

The Salem school board, elected every three years by the voters of the school district, meets twice a month to formulate school policies. Because this is the largest and probably the most important school under its jurisdiction, the board has spent much time considering problems and conditions in Salem High School.

Members of the board are Mrs. David Wright, chairman, Mr. Roy Harland, vice-chairman, Mr. Connell C. Ward, clerk and business manager; Dr. L. E. Barnick; Mr. Ralph Campbell, and Mr. Donald A. Young.

Superintendent

Recognized as one of the outstanding educators of the state, efficient Mr. Frank B. Bennett has now held the vital position of superintendent of schools for three years. His fine speaking ability is matched only by his force and understanding in dealing with principals and their educational problems, inspecting the physical condition of the eleven Salem schools, and administering all the policies set up by the school board. His friends in Salem are both varied and numerous.

FRED D. WOLF

EDMUND A. CARLETON

Principal

For those who have known the leaders of Mr. Fred D. Wolf have known that he has a big desk in his office. It is not just a desk, but a place where he can find the tremendous amount of work that has passed through his hands. The work that has been the mainstay of the school has been around the Viking Villa or the activities, Mr. Wolf finds diversion in his work.

Vice Principal

When it comes to handling diversified tasks, Mr. Edmund A. Carleton is the student who hasn't met his match. He is the one who handles the public address system, advising the A.S.B. council, and carrying out the other jobs that only an assistant principal can do. It is safe to say that the effort of the school would be very lowered if it were not for the work of Mr. Carleton.

MISS MABEL P. ROBERTSON

FRANK E. NEER

Dean of Girls

Always busy doing something for someone else Miss Mabel P. Robertson is genuinely admired and respected by her large "family" of girls. In her years of service to Salem High School she has achieved an enviable position of influence and importance.

In the present emergency she has not only done her part as an individual, but has also encouraged girls to knit, take part in local defense work, and, incidentally, learn "The Star Spangled Banner."

Miss Robertson's innumerable duties, besides teaching two periods of world history, include handling the social calendar, acting as adviser to Girls' League and, of course, attending to girls' problems. Among her outside interests are reading, knitting, and other domestic pursuits.

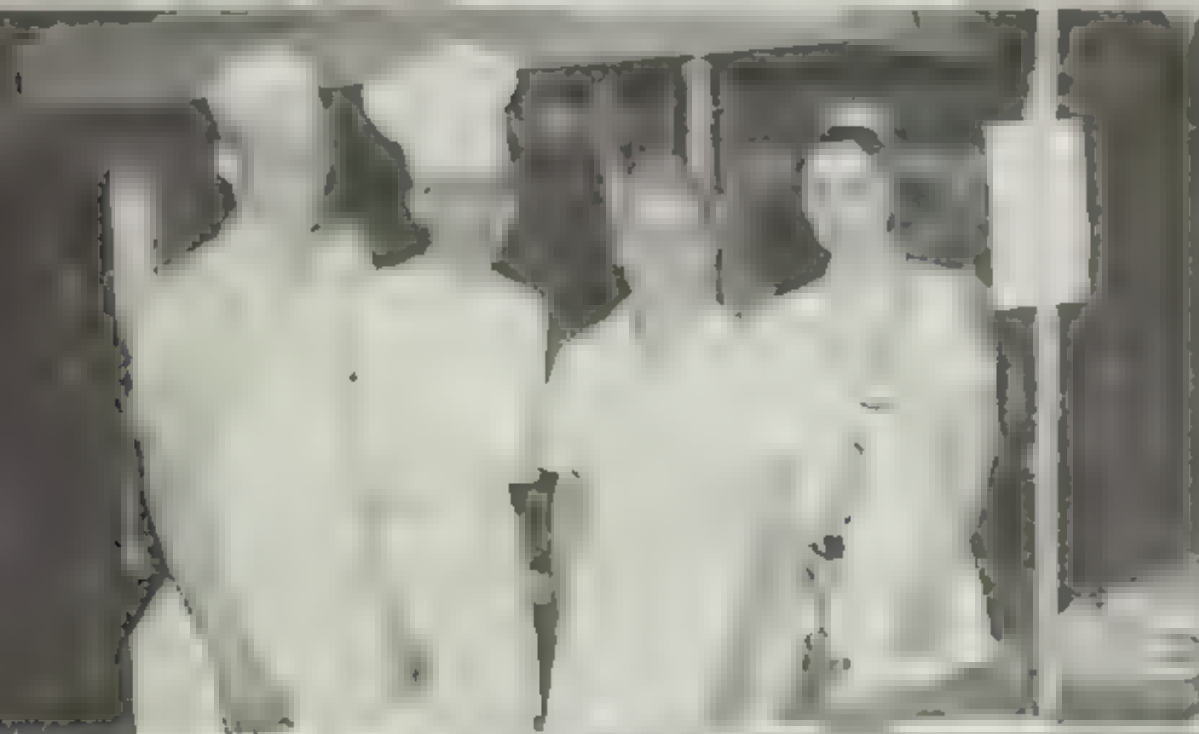

Dean of Boys

When a boy needs a little help or is just plain or imaginary, he naturally turns to Mr. Frank E. Neer. In the morning Mr. Neer can be found in room 109, where he teaches American problems but in the afternoon he takes on the role of a father figure. He handles, with characteristic understanding and cheerfulness, a few American problems of his own. When he's not helping young people grow up, Mr. Neer likes to putter with the rose bed in his back yard.

Associated Student Body Officers

• Headed by "Genial Joe" Bowersox, popular student body gavel-pounder the A S B Council has served many highly useful purposes during the past year.

The dream of frequent student body dances became a reality under the far sighted planning of Edith Moxley, hard working vice president.

Helen Zielinski proved to be an efficient as well as charming secretary, especially in the field of letter writing.

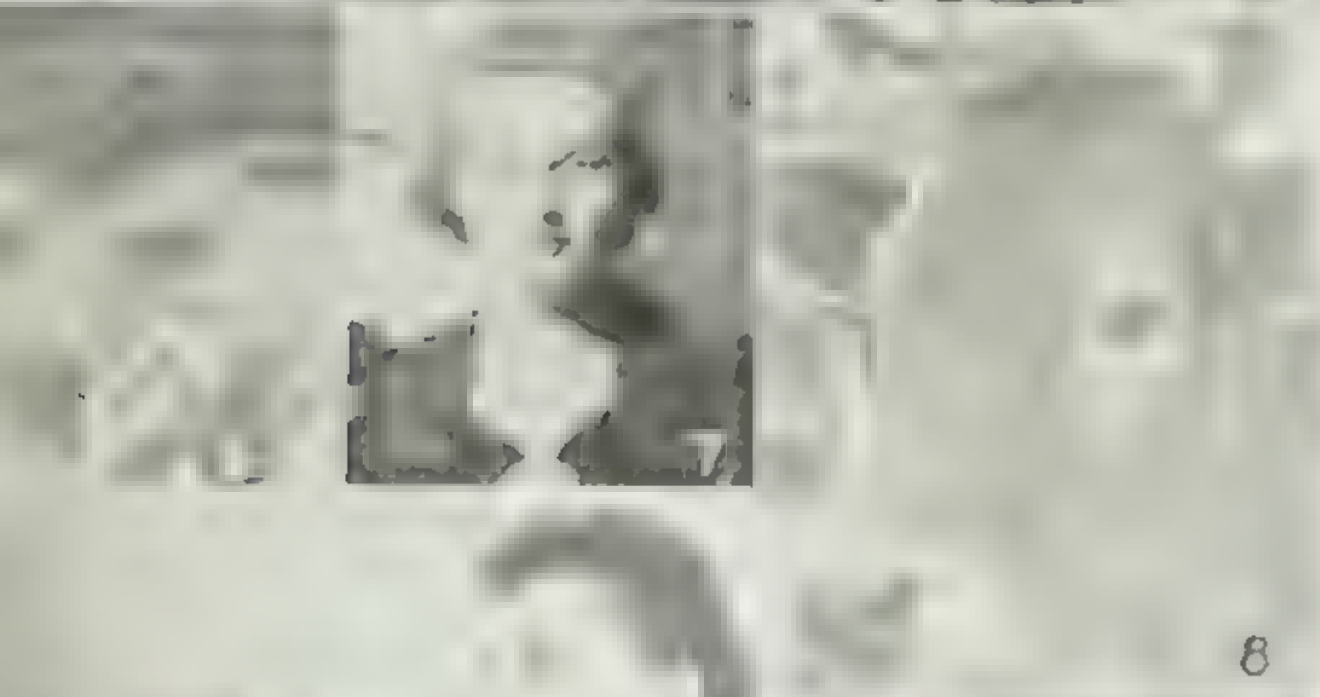

Roger Wagner was in there pitching all year as capable and likable foremanic manager.

Although elected to hold down a none too strenuous position, Don Cutler was ever present at assemblies and dances as our sergeant at arms.

The three classes were especially well represented on the A S B Council this year. Senior representatives were Carl Ritchie, Otis Wilson, and Lex Hardy. The junior point of view was ably represented by Bernice Bowersox, Lorraine Murdock, and Fritz Derkebach. Livewires Travis Cross and Wilfred Beard protected the rights of the sophomore class.

Faculty advisers were Mr. Fred Wolf, Mr. Edmund Carleton, Mr. Fred Bradshaw, Miss Mabel Robertson, and Mr. Frank Neer.

CLASSES FORWARD

SEVERAL times a day the halls of a certain educational institution of Salem, Oregon are filled with myriads of youthful voices. You are very familiar with a few of these voices; others are those of slight acquaintances; many are unknown to you; but put them all together and you have a melodic mixture that is the spirit of Salem High School.

CLASSES

SENIORS

Senior Class

The class of 42 were wise in their choice of senior officers. Following students during the year were: Royce Allan Voss, president, Maxine Patter, treasurer, Jim Bacon, secretary, and A S B council. The class banquet was held at the Capitol rink. The senior prom which opened by a one act old fashioned melodrama played Nell Ray Later was the hero, and Bob Scott was the villain. JUNIORS

Junior Class

● The "Viking Victory Dance", given November 28 in honor of the football team, was a huge success and the first activity sponsored by the junior class. "Truth or Consequences", a class program made up entirely of junior talent with Gordon Wilson as Master of Ceremonies, was given February 26. This program, which at first appeared to be a quiz show, was cleverly turned into a variety program.

Of course the year's big event was the May 29 function had "Maytime" as theme.

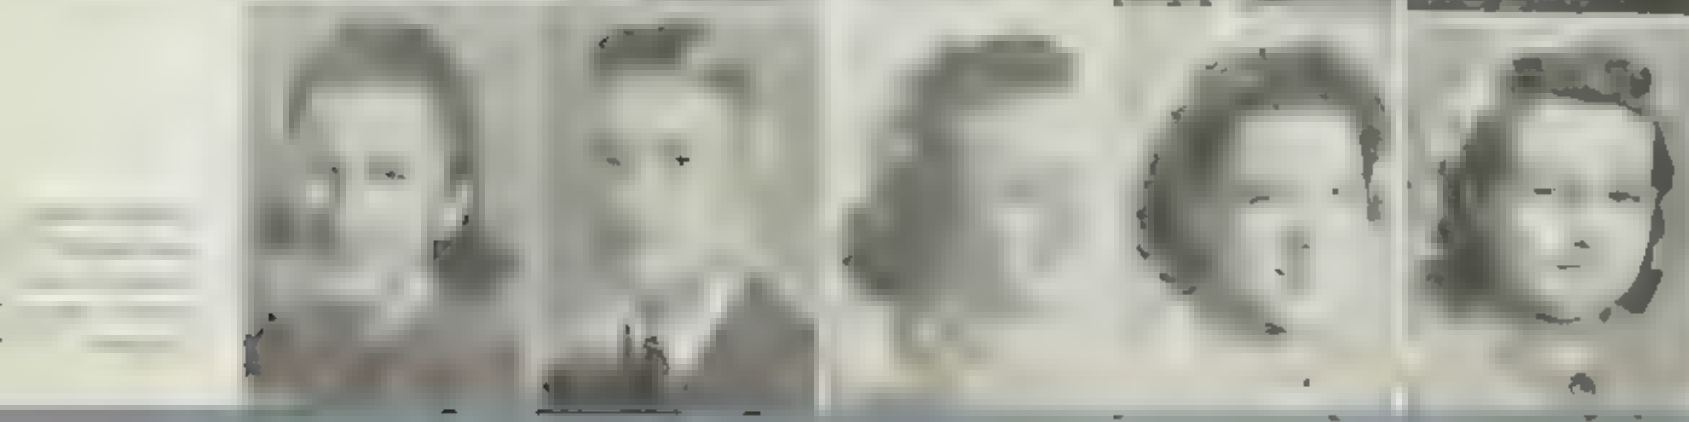

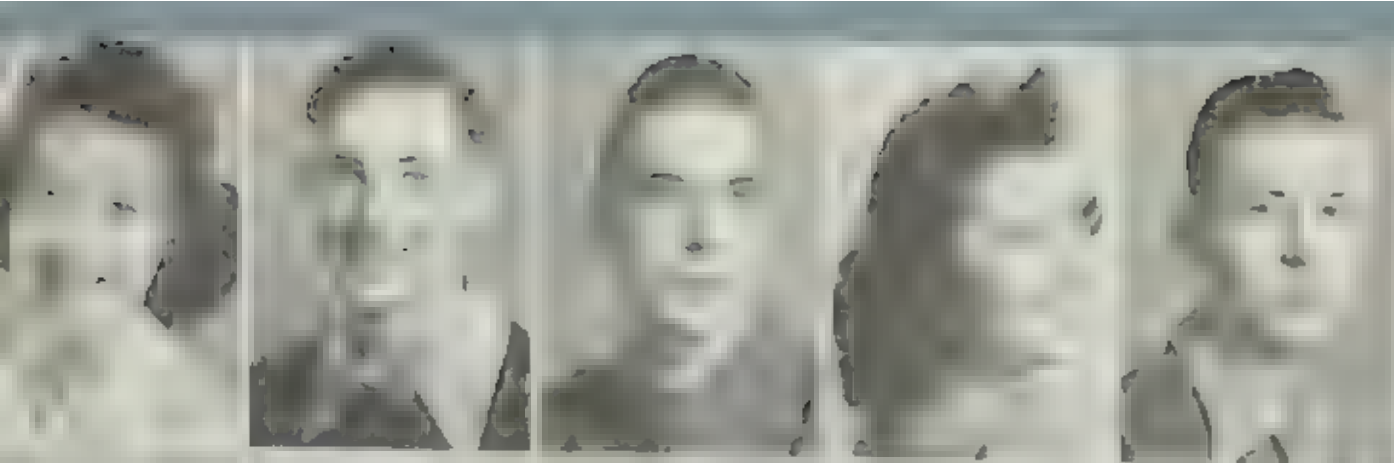

Officers for the year were: president, Mary E. Beck; vice president, Minnam Becke; secretary, Wally Palma; treasurer, forensic manager, Janet Holik; song leader, Wally Palma; drill leader, and Ray Schiess, sergeant at arms. The A.S.B. council members were: Bernice Bowersox, Lorraine Murdock and

Sophomore Class

The sophomores did themselves proud in their dance of January 19. The gym was transformed into a palace of sports and they carried out the theme of the affair.

The girls' basketball team captured second place in the annual Girls' League interclass rivalry.

Students who served as class council members were Ruth Anderson, Norman Beugli, Ann Campbell, Lavelle Cr..., Winona Dillard, Warren Eckles, Dorthea Froelich, Dan F..., ntosh, Lloyd Merk, Bill Moran, Geraldine N..., n, Paul..., Margaret Smith, and John... rli.

The advisers, who aided and abetted the sophomores, were Mrs. Sylvia Kraps, Miss Carmelita Barquist, and Mr. Garnie Cranor.

ACTIVITIES FOREWORD

LONG after you've forgotten how to conjugate a verb or figure square root, you will remember the high school programs, plays, and committees to which you gave your time. They were hard work, some of them, but because of the friends you made and the experience you gained, they will prove to be invaluable.

The Band

- The Salem High School band is indispensable to the school it represents. At all football and basketball games, pep assemblies, and other school events, martial music fills the air. These assemblies turn to popular and classical music for concerts. Last year two concerts were given, and programs were presented to Canby and Lebanon audiences. Both the band and the orchestra made a fine showing at the sectional band contest in McMinnville, April 24-25.

Director Vernon Williams, who has been at the helm since 1947, was assisted by assistant Melvin Gilson, secretary-treasurer, and T. J. Williams. At the head of the band were majorettes Janice Lemmon, secretary, Janice Lemmon, and Melvin Gilson, student director. At the head of the band were majorettes Wilma Lassie, Lois Lyons, Betty Pierce, and

The Orchestra

- For the second year in a row, the Salem High School orchestra has again won the sectional orchestra contest. The orchestra has completed its season with a concert in May, and performed at the Canby and Lebanon schools.

The sixty orchestra members, chosen by Melvin Gilson, president, and Courtney J. Williams, treasurer, Geraldine Schmoker

Sutkpoli Play

The Sutkpoli Play is a traditional Inuit drama performed during the winter months. It is a story of a man who is killed by a bear and then brought back to life by a woman. The play is performed in a large hall, and the actors are dressed in traditional Inuit clothing. The play is a very important part of Inuit culture and is performed every year.

- 2 Honor Society Induction

SOON IT IS WINTER

● A strange war time Christmas looms, but students can still laugh gaily at the exciting holiday festivities that seek to divert them. Honor Society elects new members and holds "Signals" banquet; there is a senior Christmas dance, Linfield Acappella choir sings. Homecoming is brightened with the production of Dickens "Christmas Carol", vacation carols, and at last basketball season is here. Salem students grieve when their team loses out in the tournament, but recover sufficiently to thoroughly enjoy themselves "rug-cutting" at the dances that follow. More Crescendo concerts, seniors give an old-fashioned melodrama, and students go Arabian at the Civics Club Carnival.

DEAR DIARY

Dec 14 A kind of chokingly sweet lump came in my throat this afternoon when the A Cappella Choir of Linfield sang Christmas carols to our packed auditorium. I love that sort of sacred feeling in Christmas music.

Dec 19 Today was the great day when Honor Society members were pledged. Need I say more, Diary? O happy day! Tonight was the senior Christmas dance, with men. At last the wolves got a chance. Timber!! It's nice to be conveyed. Poor rubber shortage, poor saddles.

Dec 23 "A Christmas Carol" brought the holiday sparkle to this year's Homecoming program. Nice going Carl, Bob, and Joe! They turned out a classy production. Diary Dear.

Sigma Lambda had a gathering of the clan for new and old members. "Signals" — the banquet's theme, and, my, it had an intellectual atmosphere. After this we joined members of a weary student body to take in the Salem-Marshfield basketball tilt. I am frazzled, happy, and a victim of writer's cramp. Goodnight, Dearest Diary. I just think I'll sleep all the way through this wonderful vacation sigh.

Jan 13 Whoops, we won Milwaukie 0, Salem 18. Yippee!

Jan 14 Candlelight and impressive speeches helped to lend a quiet dignity to the Girls League installation this General Study.

Jan 15 Crescendo brought Francis Aranyi, violin maestro, for their third successful concert of the season. It was lovely.

Jan 16 Sophomores only got to go to the super winter sports shin-cracker in the gym tonight. Guess I'll console myself with some heavenly goo at the Spa.

Jan 29 Well, carry me back to them thar mountings. The senior class presented a real old mellerdrama, "He Ain't Done Right By Nell" today G.S.P. It was just like Al Capp's Lil Abner comic strip. I honestly screamed with laughter and rolled in the aisles at the terrible dilemmas and hairbreath action.

Jan 30 Horrific Hysterics! Here's another dance to haul a man to. It was dreamy though, just utterly, utterly. P.S. It was sponsored by Tri-Y.

Feb 6 Half of the school year is gone—semester's end today.

Feb 13 Jinkies! But the Civics Club Carnival was wonderful this year. "Arabian Nights", the theme, was carried out with dancing girls, super stage sets, and reigned over by lovely pulchritudinous examples of the frail sex—, Queen Pat Fish, and Crown Princesses Mary East and Dorothy Moti.

Civics Club Carnival

● Ali Baba and his not-quite forty thieves, lush dancing girls and waving palm trees all typified the "Arabian Nights" theme, written by Patty Leary and A. [unclear] for the annual Civics Club Carnival.

Queen Pat Fish of the Latin Club reigned supreme over this year's Carnival. She was supported in her office by Crown Princess Mary East of Que Dice and Dorothy Matt of Snikpoh, who added their beauty to the royal party. Other princesses elected by their respective clubs were Myrna Moore, Junior Crescendo, Gladys Dalke, Future Craftsmen, Beth Kennedy, Future Farmers; Janet Rogers, Science; Nancy Wallace, French; Leona Tinglestad, Archery; Calline Hillman, German; Donna Donnell, Tri-Y; Lorraine Murdock, Commercial; Phyllis Neal, Crescendo; Alma Yantis, Home Economics; Roberta Bulen, Nurses; Jean Newman, Social Science; and Doris Berwick, Pep. Rollie Haag, Civics Club president, was master of ceremonies and Cameron McDonald was Ali Baba.

An elaborate, professional-looking stage set designed by Carl Ritchie and Joe Power gave the impression of Oriental splendor, and also greatly contributed a sense of reality to the acts presented by the Pep, Que Dice, Crescendo, Home Economics, and Science Clubs. Crescendo again walked off with top honors for the skits with Pep Club runner-up and Que Dice, honorable mention.

COMES SPRING

● Print Week, squeaky Mexican sandals, track, baseball, picnics, and the girls date the boys. The sun shines and students gaze longingly out of school windows. Another A S B dance, Tri Y dance, Hi Y dance. The "Gondoliers" come and go, and it's time for the Senior Class of 1942 to briefly celebrate before departing forever from the halls of Salem High.

DEAR DIARY

Mar 5 Home town girl makes good. Crescendo completed the series with Lucile Cummings. Well, Diary, I guess I'll say Thanks again for the worthwhile concert. Crescendo.

Mar 6 Out, Senior, or how you. Seniors had a "Souze American party" tonight. I'll remember the scrumptious time long after LaConga is as old as the bunny hug seems now.

Mar 10, 11, 12, 13, 25 At last! Tournament week, but sob, sob, sob, gulp Salem High lost out this year. Oh fate worse than death. This is the biggest week of the whole school year, because school lasts only half days, leaving time to see the games and attend those strictly A I S Club dances. Diary Dear, Salem crackles with excitement! Even if we lost, it is divine.

Mar 17 Saint Patrick's Day, and a few fortunate juniors attended the Institute of Citizenship at Willamette University.

Mar 30 Where do we go from here? Seniors were aided to a great extent today when representatives of colleges and deter—

April 19 Swing your partner, sashay back. Guess what, Diary Dear, the A S B had a genuine barn dance tonight. It was positively slick: an orchestra, cokes, wooden animals and sneeze, sneeze, hay. Thanks, that's cooking with gas. (Fashion note: long red socks, pigtails, and plaid skirts—rumor has it one fellow gave a certain girl a corsage of onion.)

April 17 Who are YOU marching with? was the question fired at all senior females after the assembly today. Confidentially if someone doesn't ask you, a student committee may assign you to some awful coley-drooley! Hidia! I'm absolutely petrified, Diary.

April 17 18 Tromp, tromp, tromp. "Jym Jam boree" was presented tonight by the Girls Letter Club, complete with dances, costumes, and girls, girls, girls. Mass production, colossal that's what!

April 24 This p.m. there was no reason for any sad-apple frill moping at home. Yes, it was Que Dice's "Leap Nite." Lovely evening, nice escort, good movie, excellent calories, but sigh—my poor, poor — I paid for it all and now I have — on for the men.

April 30 Isn't the word Venice too romantic for utterances? The "Gondoliers" came today. Singing marvelous, casting excellent, but no canals. Oh, why couldn't Miss Tartar rent the Acquacade?

May 14 Our new A S B officers were installed today. Goodness, they've got a big job ahead of them with the war and everything, but somehow I know that they're the fellows and girls to do it.

May 24 Baccalaureate. Hamlet was right. "Words, words, words" cannot remotely express how impressed I was.

May 25 Senior banquet. Seniors can just subsist on banquet food these days. It's been a grand year. Strictly class 1A.

May 26 Time marches on. The juniors moved into the senior seating section today. Next year, it starts all over again, I hear. Ad infinitum, I'm a back-number at 17.

May 29 As always, the Junior-Senior Prom was right in the groove tonight. Heaven could not be more celestial. What a beautiful, romantic mood for ending the diary of a wonderful year.

Goodbye Salem High—drinking fountains, custodians, "Pop", candy tables, and "be loved" olhce. Good-night, Diary Dear.

Yours definitely,
Sub-Dabbie

Graduation

● Because it is your last contact with the five phases of high school life, this book is of greatest importance to you, the seniors. We have devoted, therefore, this page to the last and probably the greatest event in high school. You seniors, on this occasion, illumine the auditorium with your beaming smiles. If you think that's not true, look at the above picture of the 1941 graduation.

Yes, there is a great deal of happiness, and no little amount of relief, at a graduation ceremony, but there is also a great deal of serious thought. People who have developed from children to young adults in a period of a few years cannot help but think, and think deeply, when confronted with the dynamic emergence of a commencement speaker or the precise words of the valedictorian.

There are many memories about the past, but there are more thoughts and plans for the future. In each of these there is the idea of improvement — a better future. It will not be easy to improve things, high school will seem like a Sunday School picnic compared to the years that follow. But it's hard to be pessimistic when we see a graduation class. The same spirited sense of humor plus a new and ever growing philosophy of life and living pervades the scene as the class of 1942 marches out.

And so, we salute graduation and all that it stands for.

This is what we've been waiting for

ORGANIZATIONS FOREWORD

Girls' League Officers

● Since Girls' League is the largest organization in Salem High School, an office in this concern is extremely important. Any Salem High girl will attest to the fact that a great deal was accomplished during the past year under the leadership of Donna Upjohn, first semester prexy, and Marjorie Hill, second semester president, who showed both wisdom and administrative foresight.

The rest of the hard working crew shouldn't be overlooked. They performed their tasks well. Other officers for the first semester were Dorothy Mott, vice president, Pat Chapman, secretary, Marcia Yocom, treasurer, and Shirley Parker, song leader. Ruth Remple adequately took over the duties of treasurer in the absence of Marcia Yocom. Assisting officers for the second semester were Bernice Weir, vice president, Lucille Carver, secretary, Virginia Case; and Bonnie Sawyer, song leader.

Girls' League

● The Girls' League, of which every girl in Salem High School is a member, has had an active and successful year.

The Big Sister program, which helps bewitching "sophs" become acquainted with Salem High, was the first project taken over by the league. The Girls' League Frolic, which was given in the early fall in honor of the sophomore girls, had as its theme "Till Reveille."

Again this year girls knitted squares to be made into blankets for Bundles for Britain. At the yuletide season girls decorated the halls and trees with festive Christmas ornaments.

In their third year the inter-class rivalry assemblies proved exceptionally pleasing. With such productions as the seniors' "A Night at Earl Carroll's", the juniors' "Community Concert Series", and the sophomores' "Mystic Tomorrow", the judges had a difficult time determining the winner; but the class of '43 won first honors.

A simple candlelight ceremony for the installation of the second semester officers was held January 4. Money usually spent for corsages was this year used to purchase defense stamps. During the latter part of February Mrs. Roy S. Keene gave an interesting and timely talk on her recent visit to Hawaii. One of the outstanding meetings consisted of an entertaining program entitled "Chattanooga Choo-Choo". A bicycle built for two, an old time wrestling match, and numerous types of old-fashioned clothing were cleverly worked into the program.

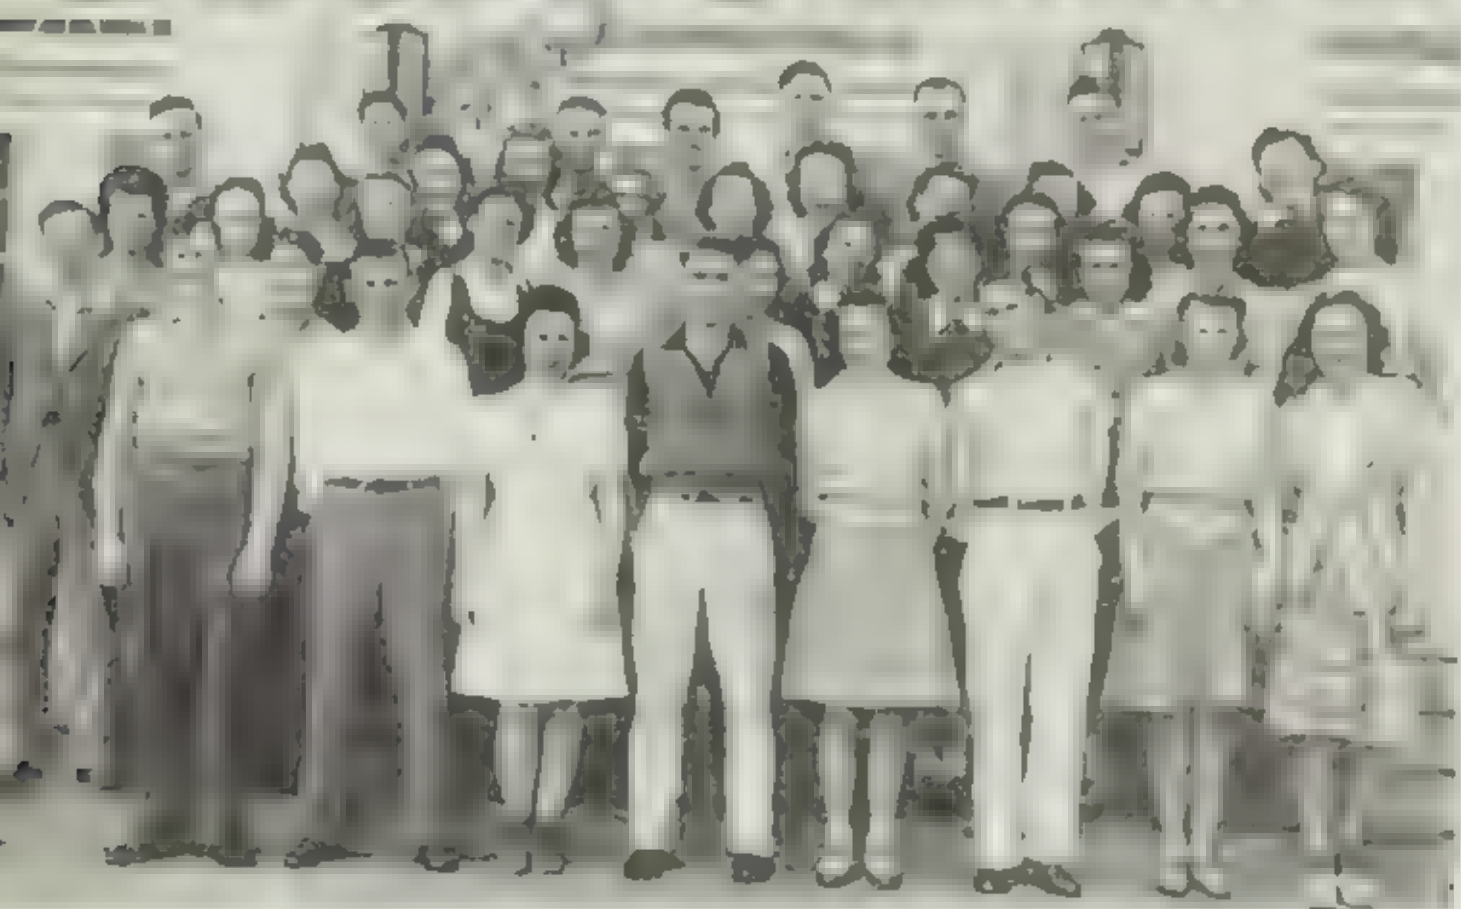

Print Week, sponsored by Girls' League, was held April 6-10. The Style Show and Mother-Daughter Tea in May was again successful.

The League owes much of this year's success to its adviser, Miss Mabel Robert.

Homeroom representatives for the past year were Mary Armstrong, Kitty Mowry, Helen Yung, Shirley Magnuson, Carmen Campbell, Harriet Hawkins, Margaret Stohl, Ada Tarpin, Barbara Causey, Dolores Brown, Alice Weston, Ruth Nelson, Francis Friesen, Ira Swalt, Marjorie Carson, Esther Hartman, Betty Steer, June Craig, Glendora Isaac, Linda Girod, Jean Barham, Retha Pomeroy, Marie Montandon, Mary Parker, Roseann Henny, Barbara Belt, Jean Gorton, Marianne Low, Illa Krauger, Dorothy Vandenevnde, Marjorie Judson, Iva Durkee, Esther Herbert, Betty Jo Ward, Arleen Frogley, Norma Jean Newgent, Evelyn Stockman, Sara Ann Ohling, Joy Randall, Rosemary Gaiser, Pat Viesko, Ethel Lowles, Nancy Montgomery, Grace Shields, Betty Lou Vasby, Ruth Rempel, Norma Wooton, and Roberta Rogers.

Tops in the Nation

● In competition with 8000 Chapters of the Future Farmers of America, at Kansas City, Salem's Club was judged as one of the four best chapters in the United State

Supported by their able adviser, Mr Jens Smith, the officers—John Ierman, president, John Van Lydegrat, vice president, Robert Lang, secretary; William Sanger, treasurer, Delbert Garner, "watch dog", and Leonard Schmaltz, reporter—and members have had a notable year

The dairy judging team brought numerous honors to the chapter. A highlight of the year was the 'Gold Emblem Banquet' on November 13. Worthwhile projects taken on included the raising of thousands of plants in the club's own greenhouse and the rental of 24 acres of land for the 'Food For Freedom' campaign

Crafty Men

● The Future Craftsman of America, Salem Chapter, is a fine organization for training our skilled craftsmen

The officers of the Wood Shop are Raymond Geng, superintendent, Ross McDowell, foreman, Charles Drees, time keeper, and Doyle Lockard, gate keeper. This chapter is under the leadership of Mr M R Davis

Mr W L Porter, director of the Automobile Shop chapter, has under him Tom Stevenson, superintendent, Ralph Smithers, foreman, Dumbat, time keeper, and Tom Yoshike, gate keeper

Officers of the Machine Shop are Ted Howe, superintendent, John Hogan, foreman; Jimmy Baker, time keeper, and Clarence Cherry, gate keeper. Mr C C Goff is the guiding hand of the Machine Shop boys

Mr G E Brant, head of the partitive branch of the F C, acts as co-ordinator for apprentices. His group of officers consists of Ray R Rew, superintendent, Branton Hales, foreman, William Schirman, time keeper, and Sam Tripp, gate keeper

The activities far too numerous to mention, were highlighted by the Oregon Junior Safety Contest in Portland and the annual banquet

ATHLETICS FOREWORD

*T*HERE are certain moments on the field of conflict when the end is near and the score is close that remain unforgettable in the memory of the participant. The spectators, removed from the sweat and strain, also are left with a memory of suspense and thrills. And this is but one reason why a high school without sports wouldn't seem like high school.

ATHLETICS

PHYLLIS WALKER

Viking Yell Team

● The morale of Viking fans was kept at a fever pitch by the vocal expostulations of Bob Eckley "King" of Salem High boosters. Lifting student spirits to an unprecedented height Phyllis Walker and her assistants, the attractive Ann and Jane Huston, demanded and received the attention of the throng.

Pep Club

● Girls of the Salem High Pep Club screamingly backed Vik teams to victory. Attentive to the wishes of their commanders-in-chief, the song and yell leaders, they employed every vociferous faculty they possessed in their support of the teams at local games. Because of the war situation, however, bus excursions to opponent cities this year were canceled.

Fun and hilarity reigned at the initiation of new members, and the casualty list was low.

Officers for the year were Phyllis Walker, president, Ann and Jane Huston, vice presidents, Helen Zielinski, secretary, Virginia Pope, treasurer, Doris Hill, and Loretta Gottfried, sergeants at arms. Mary Elizabeth Sisson, trip manager, Shirley Parker, stunt manager, Carol Smith, reporter, and Miss Esther Arnold, adviser.

PEP
CLUB

The "S" Club

● The membership of the Salem High "S" Club is literally crowded with future Harmons, DiMaqqios, Luisettis, and Cunninghams. And with such an abundance of talent it is easy to see why the "S" Club is so famous.

A firsthand view of this illustrious organization may be seen by all who attend our assemblies. There, sitting in the first four rows of the auditorium, the athletic heroes are given ample opportunity to display themselves to the host of admiring girls and to add their vociferous remarks to student assemblies.

The task of running such a powerful organization is a job to be undertaken by only the most capable leaders, and in their officers, the club was indeed fortunate this year. At the helm were "Dutch" Simmons, president, Rolie Haag, vice president, Ben Gifford, secretary; Bud Coons, sergeant at arms; and last, but undeniably important, Mr. Vernon Gilmore, adviser.

Outstanding events in the club's activity program were the annual "S" Club dances held the last two nights of the state basketball tournament. The armory was jammed both nights as people from all parts of the state danced to the tunes of Dick Day's orchestra.

Highlights of the year for many members were opportunities to replenish the boundless vitality needed to carry the proud name of Salem High to greater heights. These opportunities consisted of the ice cream feeds and the club banquet. Huge amounts of edibles were stowed away by seemingly starved athletes.

The club planned to continue the custom of awarding a medal to the athlete most outstanding in scholarship, leadership, and athletics. Previous winners of the award were Don Coons, 1935, Dean Ellis, 1936, Jerry Cottew, 1937; Bill Smith, 1938, Stuart Nelson, 1939, Bill Shinn, 1940; and Don Bower, 1941.

Coaches

● With the largest athletic program in the state outside of the Portland schools, the function of the coaches in Salem High's program is one of utmost importance. Hard work and perseverance on the part of these coaches have made the reputation of Salem teams prominent throughout the state.

Vernon Gilmore, head of the boys' physical education department, tutors the cross-country, wrestling, and track squads besides serving as "S" club adviser. Despite the pessimistic predictions of "Gloomy Gus" his teams have compiled enviable records.

Harold Hauk, "the pride of Peoria", has again completed a successful season as coach of football, basketball, and baseball. His basketball team blasted its way to the No-Name League Championship without a defeat.

Wesley Roeder has returned this year to lead the tennis wielders "Wes", himself a former tennis star at Willamette, annually turns out squads to match any in the state.

Duane Mellem, a newcomer at the "Vik Villa", has shown himself a capable leader in his numerous jobs. Jayvee football, swimming, and golf are the sports under his expert guidance.

Frank Beer proved himself a versatile mentor, by leading the Jayvee basketball squads to a highly successful season, as well as assisting in football and track.

Girls' Letter Club

● Few clubs of Salem High School had a more varied calendar of activities than the Girls' Letter Club. Although seasonal sports were dominant, many social events were scheduled. Alumnae were honored guests at the "get acquainted" dance held early in the fall. The gym was brightly decorated with a false ceiling formed in the class colors of previous years. At one of the most interesting meetings, Shirley McKay, a Willamette University student spoke of her experiences in Hawaii at the outbreak of the war. Girls of outstanding merit were presented gold achievement pins at the formal banquet held in May. A fitting climax to the year's work was the annual Jym Jamboree. In developing a patriotic theme, the committee based the program on the folk dances which grew out of the settlement of this nation. Committees for the Jamboree included Nellie Pearmine, chairman; Kathryn Hill, assistant chairman, Elaine Evans, wardrobe mistress, Marie Montandon, assistant wardrobe mistress; Ruth Remple, musician, and Carol Smith, reporter.

Officers of the club for the year were Maurine Keuscher, president, Olene Mehoff and Dorothy Hoar, vice presidents; Virginia Pope, secretary; Doris Hill, treasurer; Loretta Gottfried and Yvonne Moffit, sergeants at arms, and Phyllis Walker, song and yell queen.

Advisers were Mrs. Grace Wolgamott, Miss Helen Spring, and Miss Esther Arnold.

Girls and Their Sports

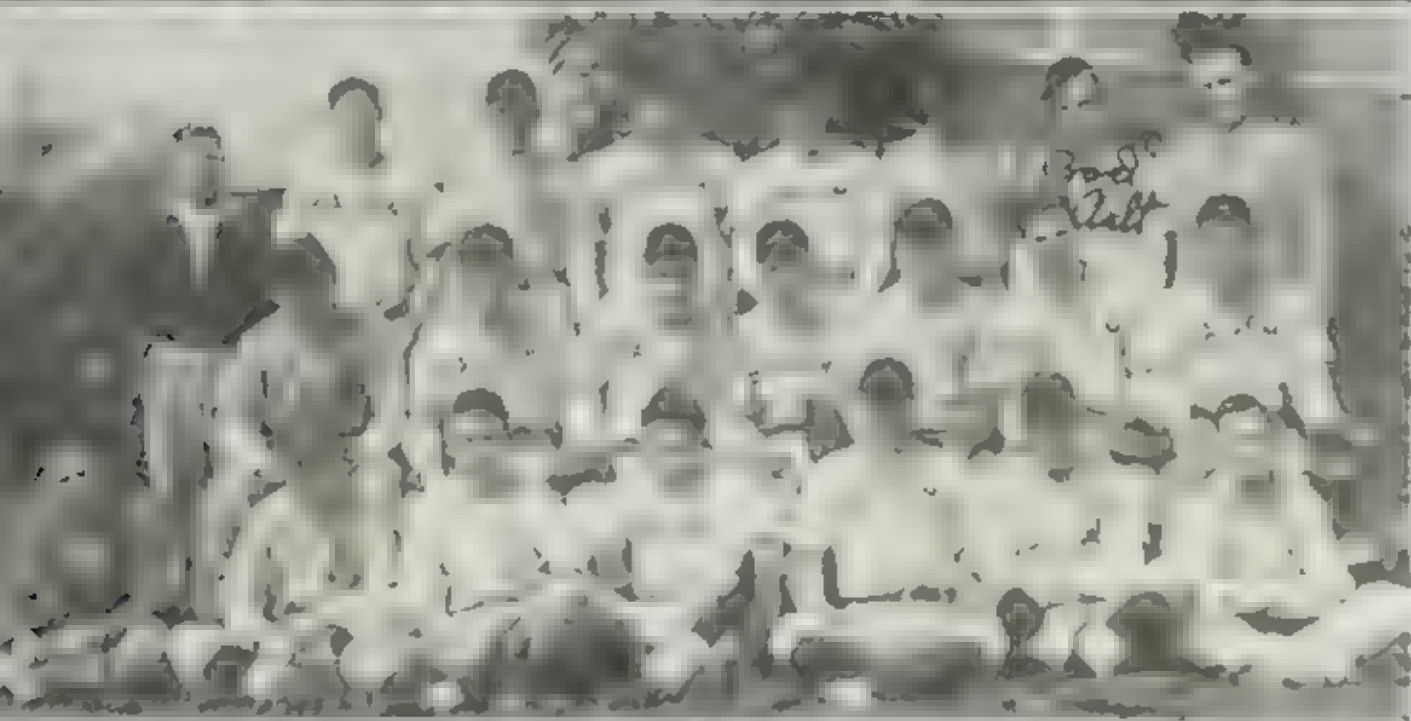

● The first two new sports were introduced to girl athletes of Salem High. Speedball, a game which combines certain features of basketball, hockey and basketball, is played on a soccer field by a team of eleven. Ring hockey is played on the gym floor by two or six players using goals similar to those used in hockey. Both games have added to the year's fun. Other sports and their

The Wedding

no matter how elaborate or how simple, can be a perfect one

We are equipped to aid you with the more or less accepted details and traditions connected with this happy event.

Dignity is usually the key-note of every wedding. If it is to be a church wedding consult the clergyman to find if the date and time is open and available.

Wedding invitations and announcements are important and specimens most in vogue are usually ready for your inspection on application to your printer who will assist you with the wording if you so desire.

ALAN W. BROWN

For weddings and all manner of social uses, our printing, both processed and plain, fully relieves you of that important detail and the expensive mysteries of "usage" or "vogue"

SUPERIOR
PRINTING

Guardian Building - Telephone 8525

*Printers of the Clarion Annual
'n Everything*

ANY DAY

may be a wedding day. The following lines are often quoted

*Monday for health
Tuesday for wealth
Wednesday the best day of all
Thursday for losses
Friday for crosses
Saturday no luck at all*

Don't take the last three lines seriously as they merely complete the jingle

Sunday may also be selected for this most sacred ceremony

Whether in the home the church or the garden, we will supply

all the directions needed save calm commonsense and a saving ingenuity for emergencies

Many brides wear "Something old and something new something borrowed and something blue."
